How much does a meter of Qiguang optical cable cost

Overview

Find the optical fiber cable per meter price and quality you need. Shop our selection of single mode and multimode fiber optic cables for various applications.

Key Takeaways

The price of Qiguang optical cable typically ranges from $0. 10 to $1. 50 per meter, depending on type, fiber count, and construction.

Price Range and Factors

The cost of fiber optic cables varies widely based on specifications: Single-mode outdoor cable: $0. 10 – $0. 50 per meterMultimode cable (OM1/OM2/OM3): $0.

10 – $0. 60 per meterArmored cable (steel tape or FRP): $0. 30 – $1.

00 per meterAerial or self-supporting cable: $0. 40 – $1. 50 per meter These prices are indicative for standard configurations; custom-built or high-core-count cables can cost more (China-based manufacturers note that raw material fluctuations, fiber brand, and cable structure significantly affect pricing).

Key Factors Affecting Price

Fiber Count: Higher core counts (e.g., 24-core, 48-core, 96-core) increase cost, but not linearly, as some manufacturing costs remain fixed. Fiber Brand: Premium brands like Corning or YOFC are more expensive but offer lower attenuation and longer lifespan, while local brands are 10–15% cheaper. Cable Construction: Armored, loose tube, or tight-buffered designs add to cost.

Outdoor-rated P

E jackets are more expensive than indoor PVC or LSZH jackets. Installation Environment: Direct-buried, aerial, or harsh-environment cables require additional protection, increasing the per-meter price.

Practical Example

A 1-core FTTH drop cable may cost around $0. 13–$0. 40 per meter.

A 24-core single-mode outdoor cable could range from $0. 50 to $1. 00 per meter.

High-end 288-core backbone cables or armored cables for industrial use may reach $1. 50 per meter or more. In summary, for budgeting purposes, expect Qiguang optical cable to cost roughly $0.

10–$1. 50 per meter, with the exact price depending on fiber count, cable type, jacket material, and intended installation environment.
